DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to the papers filed July 7, 2003; October 16, 2003.
Currently, claims 41, 43-64 are pending.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.

The claims are narrowly drawn to oligonucleotides consisting of SEQ ID NO: 2-13 or 33-38 which are species specific probes. The prior art fails to provide an alignment for Candida albicans, Candida parapsilosis, Candida tropicalis, Candida kefyr, Candida krusei, Candida glabrata and Candida dubliniensis. While the prior art teaches an alignment of Candida albicans, Candida tropicalis, and Candida krusei, there is no evidence of record that probes to each of the conserved regions would in fact be species specific for each of the species since there is no alignment for all of the Candida species which would illustrate which probes would differentiate between the species. Moreover, the art fails to provide any alignment between the other species, thus, there is no suggestion to pick specific probes to these particular sequences of SEQ ID NO: 4-5, 7-8, 10, 11-13, 38

The instant specification provides an assay using LiPA strips containing the species-specific probes of SEQ ID NO: 1-3, 5-6, 9-12. Figure 1 and 2 illustrate the species specific nature of each of these probes, as they only detect the Candida species of interest.

Moreover, The Declaration filed by Geert Jannes illustrates that using the probes of Bothelo and Lott in a LiPA hybridization test, does not yield species specific results, as required by the claims.

With respect to the language "the complementary nucleic acid of said SEQ IDS" the specification teaches that the nucleic acid sequences can form perfect base-paired double helix with each other. Thus, "the complementary nucleic" acid has been interpreted to mean the full complement.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
